Deaf Indian to Also Lose His Sight

SANTA FE, N. M. — David Ghee, a smiling, 13-day-old Navajo Indian boy, lives in a world of silence — and soon will be living in darkness too.

David is a student at the New Mexico School for the Deaf. His passion is art, and his favorite subjects are horses. He draws them with remarkable realism.

David is unaware that congenital glaucoma, an eye disease, is expected to deprive him of his sight in just a few months. No ways are known to arrest the affliction at his stage.

He has been deaf since birth. The eye disease, physicians say, developed during his infancy on the Navajo reservation hamlet of Manuelito, N. M., where his parents live.

He hasn't had the opportunity to learn words and the meaning of objects — except horses — in his young life.

Supt. Marshall Hester of the School for the Deaf said today David's one chance to retain some contact with the world after total blindness falls depends on a system of understanding words by putting his hands to the lips of other persons and interpreting the vibrations.

And he'd have to acquire this skill in the few remaining months of sight.

Shipment of U. S. Tanks to Arabia Banned

WASHINGTON — With the White House taking a hand, the State Department today cancelled a shipment of 18 American light tanks destined for Saudi Arabia.

It was not immediately clear whether the decision would quiet all the clamor stirred up by an announcement just nine hours earlier that the tanks were to be shipped from New York later today.

Nor was the reaction of Saudi Arabia predictable.

At any rate, the reversal had the effect of blocking the dispatch of the tanks to the Middle East, where their arrival might have started new excitement and perhaps trouble in the Israeli-Arab tinderbox.

Announcement late yesterday that the tanks were to be shipped had brought denunciations from a number of Democrats in the Senate and from the Israeli Embassy in the city. "Utterly beyond our comprehension."

News of the impending shipment was startling because the State Department, in stalling Israel's request to buy 50 million dollars' worth of American arms for the past several months, has pleaded it wants to avoid an arms race in the Middle East.

Further, it has said the sale of Communist arms to Egypt tended to upset the power balance in that troubled area.

When it came to fixing the tax base of the Arkansas Power and Light Co., the Public Service Commission had no difficulty at all. Applying the 20 per cent ratio prescribed for all property, the PSC's Tax Division last September rendered an assessment of $49,254,985 against the company.

That indicated an actual valuation of $246,274,925. The company accepted that as its tax base without protest and is paying the taxes on it this year.

But when it asked for its allowable (under a 1944 order) six per cent return on a $206,638,730 utility rate base, it ran into all sorts of trouble with the PSC the rural electric co-operatives, Attorney General Tom Gentry and several city attorneys.

Hearings before the PSC in the case will be resumed Monday, when the company's cross-examination of witnesses who appeared for the Commission, for rural electric co-operatives and for protesting cities will begin.

Back in 1944, the PSC adopted a formula which it said would be applied thereafter to determine the rate base on which a six per cent net earning would be permitted; but in 1954 when the AP&L requested a rate increase under the 1944 order the PSC, at the conclusion of hearings, decided to eliminate one factor from the rate base as prescribed in the formula. It took out the value of work in progress. With that done, the Commission held the company's income approximated six per cent. That ruling is now in the state Supreme Court on appeal.

Subsequently, and after the PSC had approved rate increases totaling $7,000,000 a year for the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., thus adding to fuel costs of AP&L, the latter company filed another schedule with the commission, this time for $1,000,000 more than was requested in 1954 by the company and denied by the PSC. The additional amount was attributable to the latest gas rate raise.

Pursuant to the PSC declaration that work in progress would not be treated as a part of the rate base, the AP&L revised its computation downward to $201,778,027 — quite a drop from the amount at which the PSC ordered the company's taxes figured.

Among the witnesses who will be cross-examined by the company's counsel is a former member of the Commission (when it was designated as the Department of Public Utilities of the Corporation Commission, Dr. Henry W. Blalock of Washington, D. C. He was a commissioner during the Bailey administration, 1937-40, and during the early months of 1941 in the Adkins regime.

His testimony revealed that he has been directly or indirectly on public payrolls ever since he received his Ph. D. degree at the University of Illinois in 1931. He was a member of the University of Arkansas faculty from 1931 to 1937, and since 1941 he has been employed by the Federal Power Commission, the Southwestern Power Administration and rural electric co-operatives. He was called as a witness by the Arkansas State Electric Co-operative, Inc.

Assisting AP&L attorneys in cross-examination of Dr. Blalock will be Jerry Flanders, Jefferson City, Mo., consulting engineer, who was chief engineer for the Arkansas Department of Public Utilities throughout the tenure of Dr. Blalock. The latter presented a purported cost study in which he conceded a rate base of $199,980,124, which is not far from AP&L's own total, but he made

Hail-Rain Storm Hits Sections of Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK — Severe thunderstorms and tornadoes were forecast for south Arkansas today and tonight by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock.

The warning, which was scheduled to expire at 11 p. m., was the second one issued today. An earlier one, issued about 11 a. m., and covered considerably less territory in the danger area.

LITTLE ROCK — A forecast of severe thunderstorms and tornadoes for parts of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas was issued today by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock.

The danger period extended from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m., the Weather Bureau said.

The severe weather warning read:

Scattered severe thunderstorms with tornadoes and damaging windstorms are expected in an area along and 50 miles either side of a line extending from a point 20 miles east of Dallas, Tex., to Little Rock, from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m.

The danger area includes south-west Arkansas, the southeast tip of Oklahoma and extreme north-east Texas.

Twenty-two counties in south-west and west central Arkansas were covered, all or in part, by the warning.

Counties in the danger area were Saline, Perry, Ferry, Yell, Scott, Clark, Howard, Sevier, Pike, Little River, Hempstead, Nevada, Miller, Faulkner, Pope, Pulaski, Grant, Montgomery, Garland, Hot Spring, Clark, Dallas and Ouachita.

The warning was issued less than 12 hours after an earlier one expired for much of south Arkansas.

Hail, a torrential rain and high winds battered Texarkana and a small corner of extreme southwest Arkansas last night as the squall line knifed its way across the state.

A severe storm also struck last night in the Mount Vernon area of Faulkner County. One house was reported wrecked and another moved off its foundation, but there were no reports of injuries.

Two cows were killed at one farm. Windows in some homes were broken by hail.

When the storm center moved into Tennessee at 2 o'clock this morning, there had been no other reports of severe weather damage.

At Little Rock, the U. S. Weather Bureau said Morrilton had reported some hail and heavy rain shortly before 1 a. m. A lightning bolt struck a power transformer at Monticello, knocking out electric service to that city for an hour and a half. Power also was cut off at Warren and Star City.

For five hours, however, the possibility of tornadoes hung over virtually all of south Arkansas.

The official Weather Bureau warning, issued at 7 p. m. fore-

The twister ripped through this northeast Mississippi town of 5,300, last night, touching lightly on a white neighborhood before unleashing its might on the four-block Negro area.

Damage estimates ran as high as $750,000, the state highway patrol said.

Controversial Gas Bill Vetoed by Ike Because of Industry's Tactics

British May End Death Penalty

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON — The House of Commons ordered Prime Minister Eden's government last night to draft a bill abolishing the death penalty in Britain. Eden indicated he hoped the deputies would change their mind when voting time comes again.

The House voted 293-202 to direct the government to introduce legislation removing capital punishment from the statute books, either permanently or for some specified trial period to allow reconsideration.

Cheers rang through the Commons chamber when the tellers announced the vote. Women in the public galleries excitedly waved their arms.

Eden, whose government urged retention of the death penalty, assured the House there would be "no undue delay" in introduction of the necessary legislation. But he added the government would "make a considered statement of the consequences" of abolition.

The House action apparently spared the lives of three young condemned killers awaiting hanging. Britain's only form of capital punishment it was understood no death penalties would be carried out before the abolition legislation is introduced.

Rebels Claim Control of Cities in Peru

LIMA, Peru — Rebel Army troops claimed control of the east Peruvian city of Iquitos today but the government said the rest of the nation was quiet and "everything goes perfectly."

The revolt at Iquitos, a major Amazon River port 640 miles northeast of Lima, erupted yesterday. President Manuel Odría's government immediately declared modified martial law throughout the country.

A government spokesman said other armed forces throughout the nation — army, navy, air force and police — remained loyal to the ruling regime.

The spokesman indicated also that some government forces were still holding out in the Iquitos region. He said naval forces on the Amazon, which have a base just south of Iquitos, are "not participating in the subversive movement and are remaining loyal to the government."

The outbreak came at a time of political confusion and unrest in Peru. National elections are only 3½ months away but no definite candidates have emerged. Efforts to organize a national convention of various political groups to pick a standard bearer have failed. Under the constitution Odría cannot succeed himself. His term expires July 28.

Group Votes Sharp Hike in Park Funds

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON — Forecasting a steady rise in the popularity of national parks, the House Appropriations Committee today voted a sharp increase in funds to improve park facilities.

Reporting its version of the annual Interior Department appropriation bill scheduled for a House vote next week, the committee recommended spending 15 million dollars for construction of physical facilities in national parks.

President Eisenhower had requested only $5,200,000 for this purpose in his original budget. He added another $8,800,000 to that in a special request Feb. 2, saying the money was needed to start a 10-year program of improvements.

The committee, approving more even than Eisenhower's enlarged request, cited an increase of about two million persons annually in the number of visitors to the parks, with 54 million people expected to visit them next year.

Continuing improvements in the highway system, plus added leisure hours for the public generally, the committee said, can be expected to place heavier burdens on the park system.

The committee also approved an increase of $470,000 in funds for the Forest Service to step up the program for sanitation and care of public campgrounds.

The park and forest funds were included in a bill appropriating $415,983,200 to finance the Interior Department and related agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The committee noted that the agencies covered by the bill will take in during the coming year an estimated $390,395,000 in revenue, of which $243,018,000 will go into the Treasury's general fund. Much of this income is from leasing of land and minerals.

Largest allotment in the bill was $85,890,000 for the bureau of Indian Affairs.

The bureau of Mines was allotted $21,697,300, a cut of two million dollars.

The National Park Service would get $87,688,000.

For the Fish and Wildlife Service the committee earmarked $17,813,500, the full amount requested. It made no cut in the $98,773,000 requested for the Forest Service.

Current Senate Probe Reason for Action

By MERRIMAN SMITH

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower today vetoed the controversial natural gas bill because "he objected strenuously to 'arrogant' tactics by segments of the oil and gas industry to push the bill through Congress."

The bill would have freed producers from direct federal regulation.

The White House approved the general principals of the legislation but Mr. Eisenhower said the background of the passage of the bill made it impossible for him to accept it.

He obviously referred to the current Senate investigation of lobbying activities brought to light after Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) disclosed just before the Senate voted on the bill that $2,500 had been offered to his campaign.

The money was traced to a California oil company executive.

In a veto message to the House, the President said "a body of evidence was accumulated indicating that private persons, appearing only as a very small segment of a great and vital industry, have been seeking to further their own interests by questionable activities."

"These 'include' efforts," Eisenhower continued, "to deem to be so important that much of the nation's standards of propriety as to create doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

Conditions Icy in Much of the East

By The Associated Press

Snow, sleet, and rain, pelled much of the eastern half of the nation today, causing hazardous driving conditions in many areas.

Wind and thunderstorms swept across sections of the middle and lower Mississippi Valleys. A tornado sliced through a four-block Negro area in Aberdeen, Miss., last night, killing one person and injuring 35 others. Damage was estimated at $750,000. About 20 homes and four stores were demolished.

A vicious windstorm ripped through Sugarhill, a tiny community six miles north of Texarkana in extreme southwest Arkansas, but no deaths were reported.

Freezing rain, glazed streets and highways across broad sections of the northern Ohio Valley and the western Great Lakes region. The wet belt extended into parts of West Virginia and to cover most of the eastern area by tonight.

Airplanes were grounded at St. Louis last night as a dense fog blanketed the city and other parts of Missouri and southern Illinois. The cold line extended from northern New England to the Central Plains into the Rockies, with below zero readings in parts of the northern Rockies.

The PSC, of course, can disallow any expense item it finds is not justified. Associations dedicated to economic advancement and relying on public contributions will have a vital interest in whatever cast "severe thunderstorms with the possibility of a tornado or two" on a line from Longview, Tex., to a point 80 miles northeast of Pine Bluff. The danger area included all territory 80 miles northwest and 70 miles southeast of that line.

High winds destroyed a vacant frame building at the Sugar Hill community, six miles north of Texarkana on U. S. Highway 71, where the storm first entered the state. A few thousand yards away, the wind also blew the roofs off two barns at the farm of Ben Mizzell, and smashed windows in the farmer's home. Mizzell's flock of 40 chickens disappeared with the storm.

Reporter Bob Mundella of the Texarkana Gazette said other damage to the community appeared to be confined to broken windows. However, a dense fog moved in behind the storm, preventing a full investigation, he said.

The fog created a traffic hazard on the highway, forcing automobiles to crawl along as visibility was reduced to about five feet, said state Trooper Charlie Boyd.

The demolished building once housed a combination liquor store and apartment. George Brown, who moved his family out of the structure only five months ago, told newsmen, "If we'd still been living here we'd all be dead."

Martin is so convinced of the strength of his new mixture that he has announced a $25,000 reward "for the first bug that does not die after being sprayed" with it. The rules are quite simple. The contest will run for a three-month period starting in June, when bugs are in their best physical condition. Any bug can enter voluntarily or, you have one that's bashful, you can enter him against his will.

"There is no humbug involved," said Martin, who expects thousands of contestants from all walks of bug life in America. "If there is no winner — and I don't think there will be — the $25,000 will be given to a national charity."

Any bug who can stand up to the spray and walk away on his own six feet — or eight, if it should be a spider — stands to collect a lot more than the $25,000. That might turn out to be pocket change compared to the sums he could earn from television appearances, the sale of his ghost-written autobiography, "Bug Out," to the Book of the Month Club, and a movie. With that kind of dough a bug could afford to live the rest of his days in the best garbage in town.

Anyone wanting to muscle in on this potential wealth, however, had better start putting his bug in training now, so he'll be in real shape by summer.

No lazy, fly-by-night insect stands a chance. Victory will take a hard stubborn crawl. Martin took the precaution of testing his spray on 300 different kinds of bugs before announcing the contest, and none lasted a full round.

DOROTHY DIX

Too Many Strikes on This Marriage; Forget About It

Dear Miss Dix: How can one tell the difference between a desire for companionship and love? Five years ago my irresponsible husband deserted me and our two children. I have a good job, and my mother cares for the youngsters.

Recently I met Wayne, also divorced, with one child of 12 who is in her mother's custody. We have been dating regularly almost since we met, have lots in common and really have good times together. We've both been lonely and are glad of this companionship. However, Wayne has been getting serious and wants to get married.

Actually, he has nothing to offer. He's deeply in debt, his alimony and support payments are quite heavy (my job is better than his) his mother and sister dislike me heartily, and our children don't get along at all.

If I decide against marriage, I'll lose his friendship which has come to mean a great deal to me. Is it merely this, and the good times we have together that appeal to me?

DORIS G.
Answer: You know what you have now — independence, self-confidence, no financial worries and the security that comes from having your affairs under control. What will you have as Wayne's wife? Worry over his debts, dissension between you and your in-laws, the unhappiness of your own children, friction between them and their half sister, not to mention the future involvements of children from the new union. I'd say the cards were stacked against you.

Character Needed
A man who contracts marriage with a woman with children must be an unusually strong character; Wayne seems very weak. A stepfather must have all the best qualities of a natural father and then some. It takes extra love, extra patience and consummate understanding to take on the rearing of another man's children. Congeniality between husband and wife will never suffice for the job. I think you're mistaking careless companionship for a much stronger emotion.

Dear Miss Dix: I'd like some information on the branches of the armed services for women. Which will give me the best advantages? how many years must one serve and what are the requirements for enlistment?

Answer: The best answers to all your questions can be obtained from the recruiting offices of each branch. The services offer a great deal to a woman in education, travel, experience, and meeting new people. To select the branch best suited to your own needs of abilities, read all the literature you receive, talk it over with your family, then decide. Good luck.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been corresponding with the wife of my husband's army buddy for some time. They live quite a distance from us and we have never met. She is expecting a baby soon and I'd like to send her something. Would it be right?

Answer: It would be a very gracious gesture. Everyone likes to receive baby gifts and I'm sure yours will be very much appreciated.

Home Town....

Hope Brick Works is making its pay roll in an unusual form this Saturday — in $2 bills.

This means that a lot of these normally rare pieces of currency will be seen around Hope the next few days. And every time you meet a $2 bill it will be a reminder that our plant puts into circulation in Hope a total of $315,000 a year for pay roll, services, and supplies.

And we are just one of the many local industrial plants which, taken together, are the livelihood of half of Hope's population — a major reason why our town is a good place in which to live and do business.

Dons Due to Win 46th Straight

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press
San Francisco's Dons should push their major college winning record to 46 straight games to night against St. Mary's of California, but if you're looking for the really big basketball action look the night, pal, hustle on to the Louisville Armory. That's where Dayton's flyers get another crack at the Louisville Cardinals.

Payton ranked second only to the Dons in the Associated Press poll, has won 19 of 20 games this season. The one that got away was fished 64-62 in overtime by Louisville, ranked fourth and currently 20-2.

The return match between the two NIT-bound clubs should be a pip. Those two outfits have battled into overtime in their last three meetings.

Another important game tonight sends UCLA to Oregon State for the Pac-8 championship. UCLA is 20-2, Oregon State 19-3.

Ashdown Edges Hope Girls 66 to 63

Knocks Locals Out of Meet; Juniors Win

Hope's Senior girls made a valiant try last night in the opening round of District 7-W basketball play but lost to Ashdown 66 to 63. Thus the local ladies were knocked right out of the district tournament.

It's ironic because only two nights earlier the Hope girls had defeated Ashdown on the same court. But it must be remembered that previously this year the Panthersettes, one of the better girl teams in this section, had licked the local girls.

Ashdown started out in front and led 18 to 11 at end of the first quarter. The Hope girls cut this lead to six points, 28 to 22 by the half-time. And at one time during the third period Hope, led by Burlie Allen, Judy and JoAnn Rateliff, led by single point. But by the end of the quarter the visitors had gone ahead again 45 to 40.

Even so the Hope girls outscored Ashdown in the final period 23 to 21 but it wasn't enough. Thus the first period scoring which saw Ashdown run up a 11 to 2 score at the end, and ended with a seven point lead for the visitors, actually was the ball game. The Hope girls outscored the visitors 11 to 10 in the second period and 18 to 17 in the third.

Ashdown's Glenda McDonald tossed in 41 points and was high scorer while her teammate Nandine Crawford made 20. Miss Allen and JoAnn Rateliff had 23 each and Judy Ann Rateliff made 17 for Hope.

Saturday night as an added attraction for the tournament finals, Hope will play the Texarkana Razorettes.

Tonight two games are scheduled. The first pairs the Nashville and Prescott girls followed by the Ashdown and Gordon girls. Winners of these two games will play for the title at 8:15 Saturday night.

Ashdown is highly favored.

While the Hope girls were taking it from Ashdown at home the local Junior boys were really laying it out on the Ashdown Juniors. The outcome was 39 to 11 and every Hope player saw action.

In fact the game was about as one-sided as any could be. Ashdown failed to make a single field goal and failed to score a single point in the entire third quarter. The first quarter ended with Hope out front 14 to 2, the second period was 16 to 8, the third 34 to 8.

Dave Watkins and William Foster led the scoring with nine each. Others seeing action were Jimmy Graves, Delton Hatfield, Bill Hairr, Ross Stone, Don Boothe, Terry Thurman, Garry Fornby, Don Brown.

In other play last night Prescott defeated Arkadelphia while DeQueen downed Nashville 47 to 26.

Thus tonight the Hope girls return to Prescott for a 7 o'clock game against the Prescott boys while DeQueen takes on Gordon in the semifinal affair.

Fullmer and Turner Fight to Be Dandy

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The sizzling middleweight division promises to come up with another good fight tonight in the "rubber" match between Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, and Gil Turner of Philadelphia at Madison Square Garden.

Each fight seems to scramble the ratings in the 160-pound class. First it was Fullmer up-setting high-ranked Rocky Castellani in Cleveland Jan. 4. Then it was Bobby Boyd whipping favored Eduardo Lausse, the fiery Argentine on the Wednesday show at Chicago.

Turner has a great chance to wreck the rankings tonight for the division while Fullmer is in the No. 6 spot.

The odds favor Fullmer at 8-5 to continue his advance toward a contender position. If he gets past Turner, the next step for the 23-year-old cyclone may be a late March date at the Garden with Charles Humes of France, who is rated right behind ex-champ Bobo Olson among Sugar Ray Robinson's challengers.

Turner ended Fullmer's 29-fight winning streak in Brooklyn last April 4, the first defeat in Gene's budding career. Fullmer reversed it, winning a decision in a June 20 rematch at Salt Lake City.

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p. m., EST.

Campy Must Pay Doctor, Court Rules -

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, the National League's most valuable player whose big bat did much to lead Brooklyn to its first world baseball championship in 1955, dropped a decision in court yesterday.

The umpires — a supreme court jury — awarded Dr. Samuel Shengman $5,000 in his $9,500 suit against Campanella for an operation performed on the catcher's left hand Oct. 20, 1954.

If the league-leading Aggies can defeat Southern, the No. 2 team, only Arkansas Tech and Arkansas State Teachers will bar their way to the title.

Southern Mulieriders, who led the conference race from the start until last week when Hendrix and State Teachers dealt them consecutive defeats, can regain first place with a victory over A&M.

A triumph or Southern also would place it in a commanding position, since the Mulieriders would have only off-beaten Henderson left on their schedule.

Because of their potent offense, which has averaged 89 points in conference competition, the Aggie probably will be favored. In the only previous meeting of the two teams this season, A&M won 82-80 on its home court. Southern is the host team tonight.

A&M leads the title race with a conference mark of 10 victories and three defeats. Southern also has lost three times, and has nine victories.

The third and fourth place teams, Arkansas Tech and Hendrix, are idle tonight.

In other conference games, State Teachers plays Henderson and Ouachita meets Ozarks. Neither of these contests will figure in the championship contention.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

My own gun slipped from my inside pocket quickly and easily, as slickly as any shoulder holster draw, and I leveled it at the sheriff and said, "Don't."

His hand hung suspended, his thin old fingers dangling emptily, and his mouth fell open revealing the yellow rotent look of his lower teeth. Behind him by the car the deputy stood rooted, frozen with the impact of he gun in my hand. "Don't move, Horace," I said gently. "It'll be better that way."

Horace said something but it was just a suttering sound, and his eyes pleaded with the sheriff for guidance. But the sheriff was watching me fiercely, like a vicious old lion cornered at last, and his eyes still glowed red in the twilight. I wagged the gun at Horace. "Come around here, stand beside the sheriff. Snap it up."

He obeyed briskly. The sheriff didn't look a him, but continued to fix me with his fierce outraged stare. I moved to them, jerked the gun from the sheriff's holster and slipped Horace's hips. He was innocent of weapons. I stepped back. "Sit down, both of you, and take it easy."

They sank slowly to the grass. Horace's eyes still implored the sheriff for guidance, for comfort, but Abner Cornwalls was too busy glaring hate at me.

I was a little weary of Sheriff Abner Cornwalls, and as I put his gun in my coat pocket I turned and spoke to Dr. Van Horn. "I'm sorry for this interruption, Doctor. Won't you please continue?"

He hesitated, his keen gaze swinging from me to the sheriff and Horace. Behind him Dr. Martingale was grinning, apparently enjoying the situation. Van Horn spoke in deep voice. "We may as well proceed, since we have started." He called over his shoulder to Dr. Martingale. "Go ahead, Jerry. Make the preliminary incisions." He turned to me. "Bennet, are you certain we're in the clear? I don't want any legal complications for the medical section, or the investigation department of the Commission."

"There won't be, I'll take the responsibility."

The sheriff snarled something, but I paid no attention.

"Chief," Dr. Martingale called. "Come here, please."

Dr. Van Horn turned slowly and moved up the slope to where the body lay. The two men bent over and I saw the younger man point a rubber-gloved finger. I watched curiously, aware of a sudden eerie silence in the cemetery.

"There is something strange here," Van Horn said. "I noticed the incisions, crude ones and rudely sutured when I opened the man's clothing, but I attributed methods. Now we find that the body was opened before burial and

A&M, State in Title Fight Tonight

By The Associated Press

Arkansas A&M and Southern State meet tonight at Magnolia in a game that may settle the basketball championship of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

If the league-leading Aggies can defeat Southern, the No. 2 team, only Arkansas Tech and Arkansas State Teachers will bar their way to the title.

Southern Mulieriders, who led the conference race from the start until last week when Hendrix and State Teachers dealt them consecutive defeats, can regain first place with a victory over A&M.

Unknown Is Leading in Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Mike Fethick, a big, muscular man from Mahopac, N. Y., who never has won a big one, led the 2000 Texas Open Golf Tournament into its second round today. He had a 9-under-par 63.

"Unknowns" took over yesterday as 57 in a field of 157 cracked par from here to there on the 6,500 yard Ft. Sam Houston course that was supposed to replace the "joke" of Brackenridge Park.

Mantel de la Torre of Milwaukee, who hasn't won a nickel on the tour this year, pushed into second place with 66.

Tied at 67 were Al Besselin, Grossinger's, N. Y.; Paul McGuire, Wichita, Kan.; and John Custin, Charlottesville, Va., all of whom haven't been doing much winning lately, and Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, an always well-regarded entry.

Mike Souhak of Grossinger's, who set a new PGA record of 237 in winning the tournament last year, had a 69.

It was the fantastic shooting, headed by Souhak with his 257 and a 60 round, last year at Brackenridge that caused the tournament to be shifted to what was thought to be a much tougher course.

Those who know the Army course still contend that there'll be no 60s shot there and that if the wind rises the scores will soar greatly.

Assessments Are Up $25 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An increase of 25 million dollars in Arkansas assessments of real and personal property was reported yesterday by the state Public Service Commission's Tax Division.

The report said assessments of real estate this year would total $431,150,000, up 23 million from last year, and that personal assessments would reach $223,800,000, an increase of $2,075,000.

Five new laws adopted by the 1955 Legislature were credited with bringing about the increase. The laws, designed to equalize property assessments in all counties at 20 per cent of market value. In its report, the Tax Division said, however, that passage of the acts had a psychological effect on the taxpayers.

All money collected from property taxes goes to support city and county governments and the public schools. The state does not collect an ad valorem tax.

Texas, Porks Meet Saturday at Fayetteville

By The Associated Press

There just isn't any "middle class" in this season's Southwest Conference basketball race.

With less than two weeks left in conference play, the loop has been divided into two widely separate camps—"the haves" and "the have nots." And there's not a single team close to the 500 per cent dividing line.

The plusher of the plush teams is Southern Methodist. The Mustangs, now rated 12th in the nation by The Associated Press poll, have a perfect conference record of 8 victories against no defeats. Right behind them come the Rice Owls and Arkansas Razorbacks with respectable 7-2 records.

Across the line and deep in the lower realm dwell Texas A&M, Texas, Baylor and Texas Christian.

Of the low percentage teams the Aggies with a 3-5 record have the best conference mark, which gives them the dubious honor of being the most prosperous of the poverty-stricken members of the loop. Crowded at the bottom are Texas with a 2-6 mark, Baylor with a 2-7, and Texas Christian with a 1-8.

The three top teams have taken 22 of the 30 conference games while the four low teams have had to divide the remaining eight victories.

Prescott, Hope Lead in District Cage Standings

Prescott and Hope, rated one two in standings in District 7-W "A" play, will head opposite brackets in the tournament which is slated to get underway at Nashville during the week of March 3.

Coach Wayne Taylor's boys are the only ones in the district to beat the highly regarded Prescott lads.

The Hope boys have only one more district game on their schedule and that is with Gordon. Tuesday night Hope Senior boys and girls will entertain Emerson here and Friday, Feb. 14, the same teams will play host to Stamps. Then tournament play come.

District standings as of February 15:

Assessments Are Up $25 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An increase of 25 million dollars in Arkansas assessments of real and personal property was reported yesterday by the state Public Service Commission's Tax Division.

The report said assessments of real estate this year would total $431,150,000, up 23 million from last year, and that personal assessments would reach $223,800,000, an increase of $2,075,000.

Five new laws adopted by the 1955 Legislature were credited with bringing about the increase. The laws, designed to equalize property assessments in all counties at 20 per cent of market value. In its report, the Tax Division said, however, that passage of the acts had a psychological effect on the taxpayers.

All money collected from property taxes goes to support city and county governments and the public schools. The state does not collect an ad valorem tax.

Texas, Porks Meet Saturday at Fayetteville

By The Associated Press

There just isn't any "middle class" in this season's Southwest Conference basketball race.

With less than two weeks left in conference play, the loop has been divided into two widely separate camps—"the haves" and "the have nots." And there's not a single team close to the 500 per cent dividing line.

The plusher of the plush teams is Southern Methodist. The Mustangs, now rated 12th in the nation by The Associated Press poll, have a perfect conference record of 8 victories against no defeats. Right behind them come the Rice Owls and Arkansas Razorbacks with respectable 7-2 records.

Across the line and deep in the lower realm dwell Texas A&M, Texas, Baylor and Texas
